The beginning of work on the "Split House of Health", the only such residence in Croatia, which has been planned to be constructed at the Matica Hrvatska and Kranjčevićeva street junction, has been scheduled for the beginning of next year. The facility should be habitable in the spring of 2009. The House of Health will be divided in two organizational units.

Vertically – an apartment-hotel for senior citizens and horizontally: a medical – polyclinic facility, as the facility is intended to provide both social and medical services.

The location and the facilities for this type of institution are in accordance with standards based on international experience. An individual approach, respecting the needs and wishes of each user, nutrition designed to cater to individual needs and psychological assistance are only some of the services available to the clients of our residence - says Sanja Validžić, SEM 1986 Project Manager. The evidence that such system has been successful in the west is given by numerous tourists that, according to Croatian criteria, have long been considered as having passed the prime of their lives.

The third age is not necessarily also the age of stagnation because many artists and scientists have created their masterpieces after 65 years of age. Also, the brain, free of daily obligations, has huge potentials for new knowledge and insights, but also new emotional experiences - says the Project Manager. The medical – polyclinic facility, which will be opened for the entire population of Dalmatia and wider, is anticipated to include a diagnostic centre - radiology diagnostics, medical-biochemical and microbiological laboratory - says Validžić. The planned medical services within the "Split House of Health" will include all three levels of medical care, with a stress on specialist services, including neurology, orthopaedics, internal medicine and cardiology, ophthalmology, surgery, including plastic surgery and numerous others services indispensable for complete medical care.

Third Age

We have invited doctors to show their interest and buy the premises for surgeries, and if they join us in the early stage, they will get the opportunity to be actively included in the shaping of the future institution's premises.

The partnership, says Project Manager, starts immediately and not only at the moment of completion of the building.

The doctors will only have to care about their patients because the building's Management will deal with all the other issues.

Because of the shown interest and high qualifications of the interested physicians, it seems that it will be very difficult to pick one between any given pair of the excellent professionals.

The activities have been strictly defined and there will not be any double provision of surgeries which specialize in the same field - finally says the Split House of Health Project Manager.

Physicians

.. The physicians will be the Project incumbents and we want to get the Split medical students who have continued their education and professional development in the USA to come back – says Validžić.
